HE BUILDS HOME OUTSIDE HOME

Moving Family Is No Problem

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

The house of Charles Fern Jr., ingenious 39-year-old Doehler-Jarvis division worker, is the only one in the Pottstown area that you can't see when you're standing only a few feet from it.

His family is the only one that is looking forward to having the old house ripped out from inside the new one.

These unusual conditions are a result of Fern's decision to build a new house outside of his old house.

When you approach Fern's house, which is on Elverson RD 2, north-east of Warwick, you can see the nearly finished walls of a rectangular, two-story house of cement block.

Hidden inside this shell is the L-shaped, one-story frame house in which Fern, his wife and four children are living while the outer house is being finished.

Fern has been working on the outer house in his spare time since the past August. He hopes to have the new house finished in a year.

AFTER HE GETS the roof on the outer house, he said, "I'll be building from the top down."

He'll rip off the green shingle roof and the small attic of the old house, then put in the second floor of the new house.

When this is done, the family will move from the first floor of the inner house to the second floor of the outer house.

Once the family is located on the second floor, he'll rip out the first floor of the old house and build the new first floor.

BASIC REASON he's building a new house this way, instead of locating it elsewhere on his property, is that he built an exceptionally strong foundation for his old bungalow.

The foundation has a 26-inch wall, wide enough so that he can build the new house on the outer edge of it while the old house rests on the inner edge.

By using the present basement, the cement blocks that ordinarily only would build walls for a basement and first story, will build walls for a two-story house. "The bottom pays for the top," as Fern put it.

Basic reason he's tearing down the old house, which he built 8 1/2 years ago, is that woodborers—little, white, worm-like larvae—have ruined the wood in the old house by making almost endless tunnels inside boards, joists, frame covering and even roof beams.

TO SHOW what they've done, he pushed his thumbnail against a solid-looking board in the house. His thumbnail and the tip of the thumb cut easily through the rotted wood.

To get rid of the woodborers, he learned, he'd have to rip out most of the house. "I figured that if I

IT WOULD mean a saving of about $12,000 to the borough as well as another newly-paved street.

But besides widening the street, the borough also has to lay curbing along the stretch.

This could involve a lot of red tape, Schade had pointed out, since council first has to pass a resolution, then property owners along the stretch have to be sent 30-day notices telling them to build sidewalks, and if the notices aren't observed the borough then has to go in itself and build them.

Schade contended that all this work could and should have been done months ago.

THE PHANTOM bear of Bally valley seems to have gone over the hill for good.

And like a phantom, he left behind not the slightest track or trace.

In fact, some skeptics have been heard to say they don't believe he ever visited the Bally valley region.

They point out that an imaginative person might easily have mistaken a big brown dog for the cinnamon-colored bear if startled by the sudden appearance of such an animal among the underbrush.

Harry H. Rickert, Kutztown RD 2, district game protector of Southeast Berks county, said last night that any sure-enough bear would have a hard time making a living in the Bally area.

"THERE'S NOT ENOUGH range for a bear around this section," he explained. "...and what there is would be too cut up by roads and fences to suit him."

So far only one man has reported seeing Mr. Bear face to face. Rickert recalled, and no one (Continued on Page Twenty-one)

Water Job Is Pushed To Head Off Expected Conditions of Drought

With the Summer's first complaint of a North End water shortage already registered, the borough yesterday stepped up its pace in the race to complete water pipe improvements before the expected drought hits.

Borough officials are trying to complete a water main project that they hope will ward off a repetition of the past Summer's water shortage situation.

The past Summer the borough manager had to institute a water ban forbidding residents from watering lawns, washing cars or wasting water in any way.

Residents in the North End—especially in the Maple Gardens and Linden apartments areas—were without water for as much as six hours a day during the dry seasons.

The ban was ordered on June 15 of the past year.

Because of more rain this Spring, the complaints from North End residents have been slower in coming.

THE FIRST one was registered with Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden the past Monday.

"That's the only one we have to date," Gulden said.

But as soon as the borough sees several consecutive days without rain and people start watering their lawns heavily, the complaints of no water from the North End are expected to flock in.

Meanwhile, borough workers are trying to complete a project that would alleviate part of the acute condition in the north section of town.

Borough Manager Gulden said the work should be completed in about one month.

We Mean Business, Police Chiefs Say Of Driver Violations

Two of the Chester county police chiefs in the Pottstown area stated vigorously last night that they "mean business 100 per cent" on the new county-wide crack-down on hot-rodgers and motor law violators.

Both Chief Daniel W. Gulden of North Coventry and Chief John Hanebury of Spring City warned that this was a "crack-down" to bring results, not just to scare drivers.

Earlier in the week, police chiefs of every community in the county met with State police and the district attorney in a meeting that culminated in a declaration of war against motorists.

Seven men were named to the joint authority of the 12-district Boyertown Joint High school at the meeting of the joint committee last night.

All districts in the jointure now have a representative in the authority except Bechtelsville. Four men had been named to the authority at the previous meeting of the committee on June 10.

The Bechtelsville representative will probably be announced at an 8 p. m. meeting of the authority with the 60-member joint board next Wednesday in Boyertown High school library.

In that meeting the authority members and the 12 district boards of five men each will go over the budget for the joint school and make an estimate of what each district should contribute financially.

AUTHORITY MEMBERS announced last night, their addresses and districts they represent are: Carl Hartenstein, Obelisk, Upper Frederick; and Harold Fryer, Sasamansville, New Hanover (both Montgomery county).

Director to Address USO Interest Group

A meeting of Pottstown men and women interested in promoting the United Service organization will hear Milton Feitelson, the USO's Philadelphia director, today at 12:10 p. m. at Brookside Country club.

Vinicio Fisher, executive secretary of the United Fund, noted that the USO is a member agency of the fund and that the committee's purpose is not to raise money but to make the USO's work better known locally.

Feitelson will preside until temporary officers are selected.

'Buddy's' Buddies

The dog and the monkey shown in friendly conjunction above are the pals of Corp. Elwood "Buddy" Place, Royersford, now serving in Korea. The simian lost his tail during the bitter Korean Winter but doesn't seem to mind. After all he's got buddies to play with.

GI, Dog and Monkey Unite to Fight Boredom and Terror at Korea Front

By HARLEY BRANDRETH
(Staff Correspondent)

Corp. Elwood "Buddy" Place, Royersford soldier now in Korea, has provided a tale which might fit the monkey minus a tail shown in the photo with his buddy, the pup.

"Buddy" found the pup not long ago, introduced him to the untamed monkey and now all are buddies, which helps to allay the strain of war five miles from the front, where the friends are located.

Corp. Place, serving two years in the Army, has been in Korea since December. He is now attached to the Third Signal company of the Third Infantry division as administrative specialist in personnel.

The monkey, nobody knows his name, became the property of the signal company before Corp. Place came to it. He is the GI's pal and shows considerable intelligence. He is kept in a company tent.

IN ONE INSTANCE, Place said, the inspecting officer on a routine inspection tour, turned down the stove which heated the monkey's

In full uniform, the scouts used a site about one-quarter the size of the actual troop site they will use at the Irvine cattle ranch, Santa Ana, Calif. The Jamboree will be held on 3000 acres of the mammoth ranch.

Adm. Gordon J. Crosby, chairman of Continental district's training committee, was on hand to look over the area scouts' work, as was Richard D. Dutcher, district scout (Continued on Page Twenty-one)

MEETING SET ON FREE OFFER OF THREE LOTS

Group to Study Proposal Of Sites for New Playgrounds

CONTRACTOR STIPULATES PLOTS ARE FOR RECREATION

A meeting was called yesterday for preliminary study of an offer of three North End lots as borough playgrounds.

Borough officials, however, awaited official word of the offer from the would-be donor, Allen K. Davidheiser Jr., 232 Prospect street, contractor and builder.

Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden said last night he will meet with Robert Reis, director of recreation, today for a preliminary discussion of the offer.

The action was taken after Davidheiser re-stated, this week, a bid he made several years ago to Dow I. Sears, former borough manager.

THE LOTS are offered to the borough at no cost, providing they are used for playgrounds and maintained by the borough.

Two of the lots are located at both ends of Park drive. The (Continued on Page Twenty-one)

Dispensary Removes Seed From 4-Year-Old's Nose

A four-year-old girl didn't even cry when they took a cherry seed out of her nose at Pottstown hospital late last night.

Mary Kohls, 367 Laurel street, drew the stone into her right nostril when she was playing outside her home.

She was taken to the hospital by Mrs. Robert Bernhard, 367 Laurel street, with whom she makes her home.

After the seed was removed into the hospital dispensary she just shook her head "no," when she was asked, "Did it hurt?" (Continued on Page Twenty-one)

Blood Donor Gives 102d Pint

Busy working people as well as a few vacationers found time to keep a date with the Red Cross bloodmobile when it visited Schwenksville yesterday. Here Ira J. Russell, Graterford laborer and veteran donor, gives his 102d pint of the life-saving fluid as Mrs. Louise Baril, Philadelphia, deputy nurse of the unit, lends competent assistance. Russell's contribution raised the total collection yesterday to 76 pints—one pint over the set quota.

Bloodmobile Visits Schwenksville; Man Donates 102d Pint

A total of 76 pints of blood was collected by the Red Cross bloodmobile in Schwenksville yesterday. The quota had been set at 75.

Sponsored by the Lions and Rotary clubs of Schwenksville, the mobile unit from Philadelphia was set up in the J. Horace Landis Consolidated school from 1 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

Working people were prominent among the donors who took the time to visit the traveling unit.

The largest group of donors from one shop were the employees of a Schwenksville plumber.

EIGHT OUT of the 12 men employed by Ray A. Shaffer, including Shaffer himself, appeared at the school to donate blood.

Another noteworthy incident was the appearance of Ira J. Russell, Gravel pike, Graterford.

Russell, a laborer by occupation and blood donor by preference, gave up his 102d pint yesterday, by his own count.

Joseph Glover, a member of the Lion's club and blood donor chairman for the area, was in command of the volunteers and other workers, while Mrs. C. M. Buckman, secretary, registered the donors.

Yesterday five members of the club went to Garrett-Williamson Lodge, Newton Square, for a ten-day free vacation. Forty-one more members will also go to the lodge for ten day periods.

Area Girl Scouts Pack Up for Weeks at Nearby Camps; Council Ponders Need of Camp Site in Vicinity for Local Summer Needs

"Summer" and "camp" are synonyms in Girl Scout language and as June draws to a close, they are uppermost in the minds of troop leaders alike.

Difficulty in placing members of Girl Scout troops for the Summer is increasing; local interest in the establishment of a camping area in this vicinity, the Girl Scout council, announced.

The council is considering the formation of a camp site, cheaper and less elaborate than a full-dress camp, which it feels may be within the realm of possibility.

Meanwhile, scouts themselves are busily packing hiking and swimming togs as they prepare to head for various nearby camps in the Girl Scout program.

Scouts go for one or two weeks to such camps where they swim, learn crafts and take nature hikes.

Camp Woodhaven is taking a large number of the girls from Pottstown this Summer.

Campers from troop 2, Emmanuel Lutheran church, who will go are: Cherrie Nagel, Carol Groom, Linda Lee Miller, Carol Ann Schmidt and Helen Smoyer.

Troop 4, Grace Lutheran church, will be represented by Joanne Leiser, Carol Binder, Linda Sandquist, Brenda Smith, Mary Alice McCabe and Barbara Barton.

First Presbyterian church's troop 5 will be represented by Sara Morrell, Grace Rowland, Barbara Lord, Nancy Eisenmenger, Margaret Irene Sensenig and Jane Creswell.

Shirley Graham, Phillis Wepsig, Bonnie Christman, Lynn Prizer, Patricia Piersol and Miriam Marcy.

Brownie troop 23, First Presbyterian church, members who will attend the camp are Susan Williams, Christine Welch, Mary Rowland, Gail Schneider and Diane Kendig.

Rupert school troop 24 will send Diane Richard, Linda Richard, Barbara Kusniez, Alice Bunt, Patricia Harp, Sallie Borgiet, Cynthia Xanthopoulos and Dorothy McNeal.

Eleanor Whalen, Diane Polkinhorn, Susan Schoenly, Shirley Rinewalt and Barbara Borgiet.

Seventeen girls from troop 1, Grace Lutheran church, are going to Camp Mosey Wood, near White Haven.

Judy Moyer and Linda Reide, nouer from troop 2, Emmanuel Lutheran church, are going to Camp Echo Ridge, near Easton. Four girls from troop 16, Bethany Center, are also going there.

Other camps which were tried without success are: Camp Shela-

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By The VACATION EDITOR
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Hattie Hippie puffed on another cigarette at Moon Bright cottage. It was a bright, clear night. The sun had disappeared behind a ridge of green fir trees.

Wildwood Beach

It was peaceful and quiet at Moon Bright cottage. And there was every reason to sit back and enjoy a vacation.

But Miss Hippie was having her troubles. Squadrons of hungry, droning mosquitoes liked to light on Hattie's legs. She puffed vigorously on her hot cigarette and a smoke screen hovered over her bare brown shoulders.

It was cocktails for two as a pair of huge grandfather mosquitoes swooped in on Hattie's right gamb just above the knee for a good night nip of blood.

SHE SWATTERED angrily at the mosquitoes, jumped to her feet and ran to the cabin.

The next day her shapely legs were peppered with red welts where mosquitoes had supped the night before.

Hattie vowed she'd never go on vacation again without a positive anti-mosquito weapon. This is a caution The Mercury Vacation Editor wants to pass on to all Summer travelers.

Get out your mosquito charts and arrange your vacations accordingly. If you venture into mosquito-land, be careful.

GLOVES, nets, high rubber boots and mosquito deterrent are among the devices which can be employed to make the trip a little more enjoyable.

Far, far away from mosquito-land in New York City six Royersford Girl Scouts reported, "Having a fine time. The weather is grand. Not hot and not cold."

The girls soaking up the scenery are Sandy Schad, Eileen Murray, Millie DiGuiseppe, Georgia Kishbaugh, Betty DeHaven and Jane Heiser.

Their card showed the Statue of Liberty, New York harbor. FINDING the beach of Wildwood, N. J., relatively free of mosquitoes are Dottie, Ivo and Linda Henry, Pennsburg, and Millie Mehlman and Kathie Ziegler, Pottstown.

They wrote from the Jersey hangouts, "Hello. Having a swell time with the nice weather and lots of sunburn."

Their card showed a boardwalk amusement scene at Wildwood.

Remember The Mercury Vacation Editor when you get out of the office for a week in the sun. Send him one card to take the place of a dozen cards. He will print your message where all your friends and neighbors can see it.

Husband Beats Wife, Shoots Aunt in Eye

CONNELLSVILLE, June 24 (AP)—State police reported today a Fayette county man pistol-whipped his 19-year-old estranged wife and shot her aunt in the right eye during an altercation.

Sgt. Howard Jaynes said George Lint, 24, of nearby Dawson, fired at Mrs. Frank Williams, 49, as she tried to stop him from beating her niece.

Jaynes said Lint entered the home of his wife through a second-story window and started beating Hong Kong.

her. Mrs. Williams attempted to disarm him and Lint turned and fired. She is in critical condition at Connelville State hospital. Lint, police said, fled after the shooting.

Grangers Discuss Building Planning

"Planning a Grange Hall," was discussed at the regular meeting of the New Hanover Grange last night. In the discussion, the men of the Grange pointed to the need for good lights, a compact kitchen and simplicity and uniformity in furnishings.

Also recommended was a roomy hall permitting varied activities by young people.

The women of the Grange discussed "A Laundry Help," with a survey of the members disclosing that most still use home-made soap to do the job.

The importance of fresh air and sunshine was also underlined for a clean, white wash.

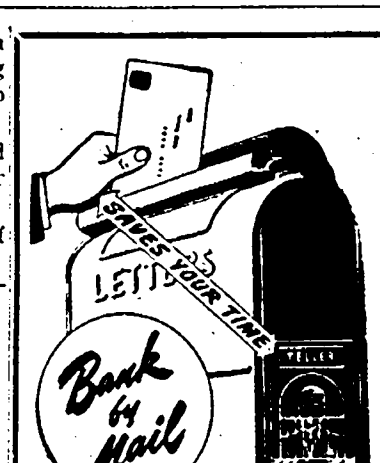

The meeting was in charge of Willis Hetrick.

Mrs. Lizzie F. Hampton, 331 Walnut St., Pottstown, Pa. writes: My husband has been in great pain for a long time. He suffered a lot of pain in his legs and arms and his hands would get numb. He started using Crownhill Mineral Water and after a short period of time he began to lose his pains and stiffness to a very great degree. PITTSBURGH, June 24 (AP)—A Pennsylvania Motor Truck association official said today a preliminary survey shows truck drivers in the Pittsburgh district drive at a lower speed than drivers in the rest of the State.

Air Force Drops 2 Kaiser Contracts As Henry, Son Testify Before Probe

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The Air Force, in a surprise move, today canceled 200 million dollars worth of aircraft contracts with the Henry J. Kaiser interests, target of hot criticism on Capitol Hill.

One of the contracts called for the production of 139 "Flying Boxcar" C-119's which Senator Bridges (R-NH) charges are costing the Government five times as much as the same type of aircraft produced by the Fairchild Engine and Airplane corporation at Hagerstown, Md.

The cancellation blow fell on Kaiser and his son, Edgar, as they were defending their production record before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

Kaiser senior held a news conference later to announce that, as chairman of the board of the Kaiser Motor corporation, he wants to "relinquish" anything the Government does not want him to do.

"We have great work to do in our peacetime industrial enterprises, and we shall continue diligently to make all possible contribution," Kaiser said in a statement.

He added that the big Willow Run, Mich., plant, where the aircraft were being produced, "stands as a great living symbol to volume mass production, and it is still an asset to this Nation."

"It would be most unfair to the thousands who work in the Willow Run plant, and who have given much of themselves, for me not to emphasize at this point my heartfelt appreciation for their ceaseless efforts," Kaiser said.

"To these men and women let me say—as I believe the Nation will say—their efforts were not in vain."

Some 12,500 workers are employed at Willow Run. The CIO-United Auto Workers union immediately telegraphed Air Force Secretary Talbott protesting the cancellation and demanding that it be rescinded.

Termination of the contracts, the Air Force said, was a decision taken "completely independently" of the Senate hearings.

US ENVOY SET TO TALK 'PEACE' TO KOREA CHIEF

Rhee Remains Adamant, Forms 'War Cabinet' To Fix Plan

SEOUL, Thursday, June 25 (AP)—Strong-willed Syngman Rhee today left the door ajar for compromise as President Eisenhower's special envoy hurried here to face the balking South Korean President and try to win him over to a truce.

But Rhee, just before his scheduled meeting with US Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson on this third anniversary of the Korean War, showed by new word and action his Government still was prepared to fight on alone.

Rhee said so in a letter to Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far East commander, and in an interview.

He also formed a "war cabinet" to help him work out plans should the UN command sign a truce with the Communists over South Korea's protest.

Robertson was flying into Korea today as 1,000,000 or more South Koreans were grabbing banners for huge anti-truce demonstrations in Seoul and other principal cities.

The US embassy said he may not see Rhee until tomorrow.

Rhee's hint at a possible compromise was given in a radio interview Wednesday.

"MR. ROBERTSON'S coming may open new channels so settlement of this peace talk may be made agreeable to us and perhaps more honorable to the United States," Rhee said.

In Tokyo, before flying to Seoul, Robertson said "I am still hopeful that I will be able to remove all misunderstandings and differences that stand in the way of peace."

IRON CURTAIN ROSE—Peter Von Dsikowitzky, 11-year-old orphan, points to his home town of Schwerin, left, and to West Berlin where he arrived June 23 after a 120-mile train trip through riot-torn East Germany. Traveling without a permit on a constantly-checked rail trip, Peter arrived safely in East Berlin and through the unexpected kindness of Communist officials and the Peoples' Police was escorted across the tank-sealed East Berlin border into West Berlin.

House Group Blasts Military Program But Clears Plan for Debate on Floor

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—A House committee today blasted President Eisenhower's plan to revise the military high command as a step toward creating a Prussian-type general staff in this country, but declared it for debate on the House floor.

In a sequence of confusion that puzzled even some of the lawmakers themselves, the House Government Operations committee:

1. Denounced the President's plan to reorganize the Defense department—with new powers for the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—as "another step on the road toward control by the military."

2. Voted 16 to 14 to send the legislation to the House floor, instead of bottling it up in committee.

That was the gist of the committee's action, but the parliamentary snarl-up was so complicated that chairman Hoffman (R-Mich.) later arose in the House and told his colleagues:

"AS SOON as the legal experts decide what was done in the committee, I will explain to the House about it."

Technically, what goes before the House is a resolution by Rep. Condon (D-Calif.) to disapprove Eisen-

HOUSE TO PROBE 'GAS' PRICE HIKE

Committee Plans to Seek Factors Involved In Increases

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The House Commerce committee stepped in today to investigate gasoline prices which in many areas have been boosted twice in two weeks.

Chairman Wolverton (R-NJ) said hearings will begin July 1 to determine "just what the situation may be and to attempt to develop the facts or conditions with reference to such price increases."

Many of the major oil companies increased their prices about two weeks ago, blaming higher costs of manufacturing and other business expenses. This was followed this week with another boost, designed to meet an increase in crude oil prices in Southwestern producing areas. The Eastern seaboard has been especially affected.

In the Washington area, a wholesale price boost of .6 cent a gallon June 13 was followed June 22 with another .8-cent boost. Combined, the two increased prices to consumers at most filling stations by 2 cents a gallon.

SOCONY-VACUUM Oil company announced today an .8-cent boost on top of a price hike of .6 cent in wholesale prices announced within the past two weeks for New York and New England. Atlantic Refining company announced a similar boost for Pennsylvania and Delaware.

A .7 cent increase for Texas also was announced today in wholesale prices of Humble Oil and Refining company, as the pattern of increases spread. Price ceilings on gasoline were removed April 1.

Lyon Bows Out After Storm Breaks Over His $5000 Per Year Pension

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—the Senate Interior committee President Eisenhower's nomination called him for the usual routine of Tom Lyon to head the Bureau of Mines died a sudden death today in a storm of senatorial criticism.

Faced with mounting opposition due to the $5000 pension he draws from Anaconda Copper Mining company and his criticism of the Federal Mine Safety law, the 65-year-old engineer bowed out by asking that his nomination be withdrawn from the Senate.

At the White House, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he assumed the President would comply, since "Mr. Lyon requested it himself." Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay also asked withdrawal of the nomination.

Lyon aimed a fresh blast at the Federal Coal Mine safety law, this afternoon, calling it a "phony."

GREETING NEWSMEN at his office, Lyon commented wryly: "There isn't much to say. The story is over."

That was his summary of events that began yesterday when

Federal Reserve Eases Required Bank Reserve

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The Federal Reserve board tonight eased its money brakes on the economy in a move designed to keep production and employment high and help the Government meet its borrowing needs.

The board did so by reducing the amount of money it requires its member banks to hold in reserve. The reduction was comparatively slight but was enough to increase bank lending power by nearly six billion dollars.

AMBASSADOR ARRIVES NEW DELHI, India, June 24 (AP)—Russia's new ambassador to India, Ivan Alexandrovich Beneditov, 51, arrived by plane today to assume his duties.

British Forces Slay 42 Mau Maus as Campaign Intensifies

NAIROBI, Kenya, June 24 (AP)—British colonial troops and Kenya security forces killed 42 Mau Mau terrorists in a pitched battle in the Fort Hall area, 45 miles north-east of Nairobi, yesterday.

An announcement today said the Mau Mau—pledged to drive the white man from this British colony—killed six home guards and one tribal policeman. The terrorists were believed to be part of a gang which attacked Kikuyu guard posts the past week.

Seven white settlers in one family were killed last night when 15 terrorists attacked and burned their farmhouse ten miles from Nanyuki. Four African farm hands were killed.

The Fort Hall gun fight came as the British forces in Kenya stepped up their drive to stamp out the Mau Mau. Officials in London disclosed yesterday that 12,000 white and black troops are massing here for an all-out offensive under Gen. Sir George Erskine, chief of Britain's East African forces.

Escapade Thumbs The Wrong Man

POTTSVILLE, June 24 (AP)—Peter Ackel, 52, of Shenandoah (thumbed a ride at Deerlake, 12 miles south of Pottsville).

But Robert Scheipe, who gave him a lift, decided he had seen his rider somewhere before.

So he stopped his car at a taproom, excused himself, and went in to telephone his father, Walter Scheipe, warden of the Schuylkill County prison.

The warden notified State police who overtook the car and arrested Ackel who escaped from the county prison June 16.

He had been committed to the prison in May on a disorderly conduct charge.

Reds Promise to Free Arrested Rebels

BERLIN, June 24 (AP)—The Russians gave their puppet East German Government a chance to save its neck and stay in office today—but kept their guns pointed against any new uprising by German workers.

Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl was allowed to announce that his Government will not resign, and thus yield to the "provocateurs" of the past week's bloody revolt. Instead it will stay in office and carry out its "duty" of correcting its "mistakes."

He made a bid to placate the rioting workers by promising to free many of the thousands arrested, increase social benefits and lighten the re-armament burden. The regime turned back to private hands 40 nationalized factories and embarked on a "new course" of allowing "public discussion" in the factories of workers' complaints.

At the same time, West Germany and the Soviet zone agreed to double their trade credits in order that the food-short East zone might get 10 million marks ($2,380,000) of food and the same amount of steel. Before the riots the East zone had reached the limit of 20 million marks indebtedness under a previous trade agreement, and Western food shipments had been halted.

EAST GERMANY now undertakes to make good the shortage by supplying the West with oil. West Germany's trade is under Allied high commission supervision which prohibits shipments of strategic goods to the East.

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By LARRY DAVIS

THE third anniversary of the outbreak of the Korean war today means something special to Elmer D. Kelley, 418 Jefferson avenue. Just six months before that conflict erupted, Kelley had landed in Japan for occupation duty as a member of the Third Engineer Combat battalion of the 24th Infantry division. He shared the opinion of other American troops stationed there, to wit, that occupation duty wasn't so bad after all.

But just 14 days after the North Korean army scrambled across the 38th parallel, Kelley's outfit set foot on Korean soil and he found himself in the thick of the action.

So thick, in fact, that on one occasion, as UN forces retreated before the advancing communists, his unit was operating 14 miles inside newly-won enemy territory with the mission of blowing up bridges to halt the southward push.

"The Communies were so close to us," he recalls, "that I could see them digging mortar emplacements while we were setting the charge to destroy one bridge. They were above us on a cliff, and it was a race to see who would get ready for action first."

The 100-yard steel and concrete bridge was blown with 400 pounds of TNT. But the Communists pushed south anyway.

For 25 days Kelley was on the firing line, practically shoulder to shoulder with Major Gen. William F. Dean, now a reported prisoner of the Communist forces. And for four days and nights he roamed the Korean mountains with other members of his unit trying desperately to locate the main body of withdrawing American troops.

Kelley's soldiering days are just about over. After 24 years of active duty, practically all of it with the Corps of Engineers, he will be putting his uniform in moth balls late next month. Eleven of those 24 years have been in the rank of master sergeant.

Born on Dec. 7, 1909, in Johnson City, Tenn., Kelley was the son of a railroader turned farmer. He was educated in his native community, but quit school after he had completed the elementary grades to help support his family.

For a while he worked in a flour mill. "I had a good reputation for making corn meal," he recalls. Then he tried his luck as a farmhand in Iowa. That didn't work out, so he returned to Tennessee.

"My Sunday school teacher," he points out, "was an Army recruiting sergeant assigned to my home town. And he talked me into joining up. He told me the truth; that it would be a tough life and that I'd get out of it just what I put into it. Well, I've never been sorry."

Kelley signed up at $21 per month on Aug. 28, 1928, and was assigned to the Seventh Engineers at Ft. Benning, Ga. Two years later he joined the 13th Engineers at Ft. Belvoir, Va., where he remained until given a three-year tour in Panama in 1937 with the Pacific Engineer depot.

When World War 2 came, Kelley found himself the top kick for several Engineer Mobile Shop companies. Shortly after D-Day in 1944, Kelley was in France with the 137th Engineer Combat company laying gasoline pipelines from the channel inland to advancing American forces.

His unit laid and operated one, 100-mile section of three six-inch lines capable of passing 1800 barrels per hour.

He also helped operate another 100-mile section from Verdun to the Rhine.

Kelley is married to the former Anna L. Devlon, of Baltimore, Md. There are four children: Richard, 19; Phillip and Mary Phyllis, six-year-old twins, and Kathleen, 17 months.

Kelley established residence in Pottstown in January, 1952, when he was returned from Korea.

"Pottstown," he says, "is a nice town. About the best place I've ever lived."

THINGS HAVE changed considerably in the compressor room of the Doehler Jarvis corporation in the 18 years since Earl Stott, 513 North Franklin street, first joined the firm during the days of the Great Depression.

In 1935, taking a chance that the die casting firm might provide him with more steady employment, he left a job with the riveting gang at Bethlehem Steel company to enter the compressor room. Then, there were just five air compressors and from six to eight hydraulic pumps to superintend.

Today, some 18 years later, Stott is group leader for a crew of five men charged with the operation of 11 air compressors, 14 essential hydraulic pumps, air conditioning units and several smaller pumps.

And, after dropping a career that might eventually have made him a boiler maker soon after he quit school, Stott plans to stay right where he is as the result of his depression days decision.

For 17 of the 18 years he has been at Doehler's, he was assigned to the second shift, working from 2:30 to 10:30 p. m. The past year he was moved to the first shift, 6:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m., and he's been trying ever since to adjust himself to the change of hours.

A quietly jovial man with a deep love for growing things, Stott spends hours in his small truck patch behind his home, and more hours painstakingly cutting and trimming his side and rear lawns. That the grass be neat and level is almost a fetish with him.

Stott is a native son of Kimberton, near Phoenixville, where he was born on March 11, 1895. His was a large family and he was the 11th of 12 children, including seven girls and five boys, of the late George Oliver and Gertrude (Hummel) Stott. His father was a boiler-maker by trade, having worked here with Sotter brothers and in Phoenixville at the Heine Boiler works where he was shop superintendent for 18 years.

Stott had been christened Francis Earl. His first name had been suggested by a fond aunt and that's the way it went on the records. But when he was five, soon after the family had moved to King street here, his playmates unkindly laughed at the "Francis" and informed him it was a girl's name. Thereafter, he was known as "Earl," except in the Army where such matters are considered as non-applicable.

Restless and eager to go to work, he chose employment at the Parson and Baker Knitting mill in Phoenixville rather than enter high school. But he soon tired of the ten-hour days during which he tended from 12 to 20 knitting machines.

He then went to work in his father's shop with the boiler company until he enlisted with Company D of the Sixth Infantry regiment for service in World War I. That move took him to France where he spent nine months in the front lines during the Champagne-Marne, Aisne-Marne and Oise-Aisne campaigns. He returned unscathed in May, 1919.

Soon after arriving home, Stott visited Pottstown and attended a dance at the Odd Fellows hall. There he was introduced to a local girl, the former Lottie S. Jones.

The couple was married March 10, 1920, the day before his 22d birthday.

During the recession of the early 20's, Stott worked for the US Axle company, Steel Plate Products company and Sotter brothers, which kept him in the boiler-making trade. And in 1926, he joined Bethlehem Steel where he remained for nine years.

He and Mrs. Stott live in a nine-room home built by her father, the late Lewis C. Jones, 60 years ago, and the house in which she was born.

The couple has one married daughter, Mrs. Darrel C. Rivenburg.

Church Women Dedicate New Organ

SKIPPACK—Mrs. Wm. Kirk, RD. 1, Collegeville, Pa., Phone Collegeville 2306, H. Hobbs, del. Phone Pottstown 6090.

Wentz's Evangelical and Reformed church, Worcester, was the scene of the Women's guild June meeting.

The women entered the sanctuary as the organist, Mrs. Clifford Brunt played "Priests March" on a pipe organ, which was to be dedicated. She was accompanied on the violin.

Mrs. G. Carl Seipt, chairman of the program committee, led the devotions, after which Mrs. William Seipt played Handel's "Large" on the violin. Mrs. Ralph Folk, president; Mrs. Gustav Kalkenstine, secretary; and Agnes Kriebel, treasurer, officiated at the burning of old notes. Each one was burned separately by Mrs. Folk and Mrs. Kalkenstine as Miss Kriebel read the notes aloud. The ceremony signified the complete payment of $13,375 for the organ.

After the hymn "Dedication" sung by the group, the ushers, Mary Peacock, Loraine Landes, Arlene Kriebel and Ann Schultz received to offering. The women's chorus, Agnes Kriebel, Estella Bittling, Mrs. Carl Seipt, Mrs. Charles Bean, Mrs. Gustav Kalkenstine, Mrs. Donald Brant, Mrs. Ralph Folk, Mrs. David Allebach, Mrs. George Kern, Mrs. A. S. Wilkie, Mrs. Alfred Zeller and Mrs. Winfield Scott sang "In a Monastery Garden."

A RECITAL by the organist followed. "Toccata in D Minor" by Bach, "Andante in C" by Baptiste and "Toccata in D Minor" by Nevin were played.

President Mrs. Ralph Folk gave a short talk regarding June, the month of roses, brides and commencements. She stated that this was the group's commencement after having placed themselves upon the threshold just 23 months ago, July 15, 1951, when they pledged themselves to acquire the present organ in the newly renovated church.

"It was then," said Mrs. Folk, "we cemented ourselves together in faith and good will and began to work. Now that we have graduated from that challenge, we must not sit back in our rocking chairs and rock, because," she added, "rocking chairs do not get anywhere."

"Look ahead for more goals, orphans homes, old folks homes, missions, educational programs, world service—there is so much more to be done!" she concluded.

The executive board then awarded each woman a diploma. Mrs. John Yeakel, membership chairman, distributed them as Irene Geyer, corresponding secretary read the names. Each member signed her name to a treated linen scroll which will be placed in a metal tube and stored in the organ chambers for permanent keeping.

THE REV. RALPH FOLK, pastor, offered a prayer, and the hymn "Now Thank We All Our God" was sung, after which the benediction was given by the Rev. Blasberg.

A social hour and refreshments followed in the Sunday school room with the executive board as hostesses.

Witness Tells Court of Storch Slaying

BUTLER, June 24 (AP)—A confessed killer of Mrs. Alice Storch testified today how he and his friend, who is on trial for the instalment plan slaying, took turns tightening the cord to strangle the victim.

Walter Henderson, 26, who has pleaded guilty to the murder, told a tense courtroom he and Russell Budd, 28, both of Pittsburgh, killed the 49-year-old woman in her Cranberry Township home near Butler for a promise of $10,000 from her husband, Ernest.

After entering the Storch home, Henderson testified, Budd went straight to Mrs. Storch's bedroom, adding:

UN VIEWS WAR IN MIXED MOOD

Anniversary of Conflict Finds Confusion in Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 24 (AP)—On the eve of the Korean War's third anniversary, the UN is in a mixed mood of pride and confusion about its unprecedented venture into world policing.

Although convinced its primary purpose of demonstrating united opposition to aggression has been accomplished, the UN was bewildered by how to bring the fighting to a close.

Because of the confused state of the armistice, UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and other top ranking diplomats decided today against making the customary anniversary statements on the war.

President Syngman Rhee's release of prisoners and his warning that he will not obey armistice terms were viewed as dangerous in the extreme.

HOWEVER, diplomats wanted to give the US and the unified command every opportunity of finding a solution to the impasse before doing anything here.

They recalled frequent UN statements on its Korean intentions. Former Secretary General Trygve Lie, in a report listing UN Korean aims, declared Oct. 8:

"First of all, UN forces are fighting in Korea to resist armed aggression and bring it to an end. The only victory they seek is a victory for collective security and for peace. This is not a war against the security of any single nation or against any system of government. It is not a war to unify North and South Korea by force. The unification and economic rehabilitation of Korea are political objectives of the UN, but only by peaceful means. The charter does not authorize the use of military force against ideologies or to achieve political objectives.

"The military action in Korea, therefore, has been undertaken only to throw back the aggressors, to bring the aggression to an end and to restore peace and security."

Lie's explanation differed somewhat from the interpretation placed on an Assembly resolution of Oct. 7, 1950, on the unification of Korea. The resolution was sponsored by Britain and seven other countries.

'ARMY' TO SHARE IN FUND DRIVE

Unit Again Will Participate With United Agencies In Campaign

The Pottstown Salvation Army will again be one of the participating agencies in this year's United Fund drive.

The 'Army's' application was accepted at yesterday noon's United Fund board meeting at Brookside country club.

A report on the 'Army's' letter was made by J. Alfred Marquet, chairman of a committee that included Ralph Maack and William Firth.

A major change was made in the agreement between the participating agencies and the Fund, however, as a result of a stipulation proposed by the 'Army.'

This year, if the drive fails to reach the quota set, each agency will have its allocation cut by the same percentage as that by which the drive failed.

Carolina Senator Is Reported Ill

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Sen. Willis Smith (D-NC), who unseated Sen. Frank Graham in a heated political battle in 1950, was reported gravely ill tonight at nearby Bethesda, Md., naval hospital.

A strapping six footer, Smith is 65.

He is a former president of the American Bar association and was practicing law in Raleigh at the time of his election. He won nomination on a platform of opposition to some of President Harry Truman's "Fair Deal" programs.

Tigers Hand A's 2d Straight Loss

PHILADELPHIA, June 24 (AP)—The last place Detroit Tigers pinned back the ears of the almost as lowly Philadelphia Athletics for the second straight time tonight, 6-3, as winner Ned Garver survived a three-run Philadelphia flurry in the eighth inning. Steve Souchock's two-run homer featured a four-run Tiger rally in the first.

The four Detroit runs in the first came on singles by Harvey Kuenn, Johnny Pesky and Bob Nieman plus a long fly by Walt Dropo and Souchock's homer—his third of the season. Pesky's single scored Kuenn and Dropo's fly brought in a third run. Pesky after the catch, while Nieman romped home ahead of Souchock. Detroit picked up another run in the second on a single by Fed Hatfield, a sacrifice by Garver and another single by Kuenn. The final Tiger tally was by way of Kuenn's homer—his third straight hit—in the fourth.

OGDEN, Utah, June 24 (AP)—Ancient Archie Moore of California held on tenaciously to his heavyweight championship tonight, slashing out a unanimous 15-round decision over Joey Maxim of Cleveland in Utah's first title bout.

Refusing to bow to age or the game bid of Maxim, the 36-year-old fighter from San Diego closed strong to whip the man he won the title from in St. Louis last December. Moore, in good fighting trim at 173½ pounds, outfought 31-year-old Joey, who weighed 175, particularly with a strong finish in the grueling contest.

Indians Top Bosox, 13-9, With 17 Hits

BOSTON, June 24 (AP)—After spotting the Boston Red Sox three runs in the first inning, Cleveland's Indians surged from behind for a 13-9 victory today by generating 17 hits. Dale Mitchell, Bob Avila and Jim Hegan each connected thrice to pull the game out of the fire for starting pitcher Early Wynn.

The Cleveland right-hander gave the Red Sox all but one of their 14 hits and was lashed for a three-run homer by Del Wilber in the seventh inning. Bob Lemon and Bob Hooper had to be called upon to bolster Wynn and Lemon encountered serious trouble in the ninth.

The Indians drove starter Marv Grissom to cover with a four-run blast in the second session and then whacked Hershel Freeman and Ben Flowers for five runs in the third. Hegan and Mitchell sandwiched Wynn's sacrifice with singles for the Indians' winning run in the fifth inning.

national television audience also watched. Cleveland's Pal Joey started out strong and surprised the crowd, and probably Moore, with a fine right hand. But Archie, a fugitive from boxing's antique shelf, began to put on steam midway in the scrap and there was no real doubt about the outcome before decision was formally announced.

Moore opened a cut under Maxim's left eye in the eighth round and ripped another wound at the corner of the right eye in the 11th round. Neither was serious, however, and had no bearing on the way things went for the challenger. REFEREE MILLER had a busy evening separating the two but actually the match had more action from start to finish than many had anticipated.

Bitter rivalry between the two was evident in the frequency that they slipped over punches on each other on the break. Moore's corner repeatedly yelled to Miller and twice the two boxers exchanged punches after the bell.

The last spirited evidence of feeling came at the final gong when both swapped blows. They were swiftly pulled apart and just as quickly shook hands.

Moore was again the better boxer and repeatedly outjabbed Maxim with his longer left and followed through with whistling

Kokos' Homer Beats Senators In 9th, 7-6

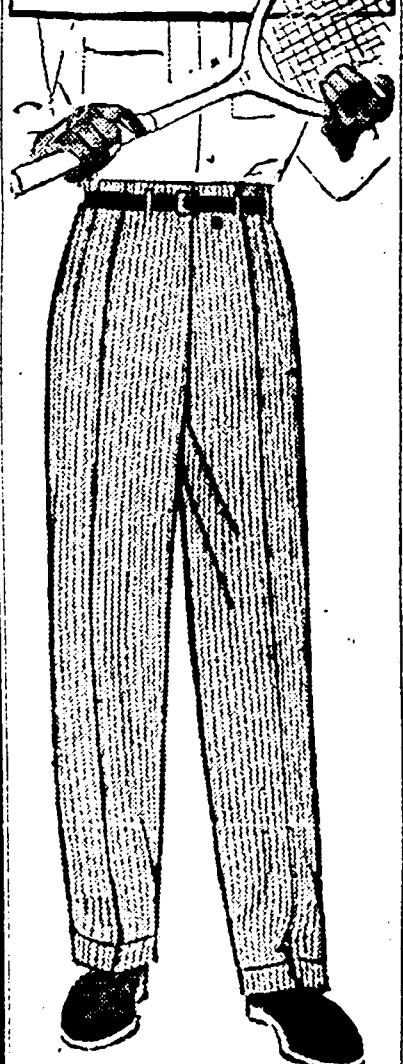

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Dick Kokos' two-run homer off Bob Porterfield with two out in the ninth inning gave the St. Louis Browns a 7-6 victory over Washington tonight. Roy Sievers blasted a three-run homer for the Browns in the eighth inning. Porterfield, who batted in three runs with a double and single, carried a 6-2 lead into the eighth inning but a single by Johnny Groth, a walk to Kokos, and Sievers' blast into the leftfield bleachers reduced the Browns' deficit.

Bill Hunter opened the ninth inning with his fourth straight single and pinch hitter Neil Berry sacrificed. Vic Wertz, batting for Groth, flied out, but Kokos rammed a homer over the right-field fence. Don Larsen, fourth St. Louis pitcher, preserved the win for Mike Blyzka. The victory was the Browns' third straight, while the Senators were dealt a fourth straight defeat.

rights. But it was Maxim who actually landed the hardest two rights of the fight. The first came early in the fight and the last one in the 14th round, and both obviously shook Archie. However, he did not appear seriously damaged and both times swarmed back to take charge of the offense.

White Sox Win 8th Straight at Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)—The bases loaded was the big blow in the first and Minnie Minoso profiting to be awed by the huge New York Yankee lead, knocked off the world champs for the second day in a row today, 8-4, with a five-run burst in the first inning.

This was Chicago's eighth straight victory at Yankee Stadium. Their last defeat in the park was last July 19. They've won all five this season and are the only club in the league with a season edge, 6-4, on New York.

As a result of the Yanks' third straight defeat, their longest losing streak of the year, and Cleveland's triumph at Boston, their American League lead now measures 10 games.

Bob Elliott's triple with the bases loaded was the big blow in the first and Minnie Minoso profiting to be awed by the huge New York Yankee lead, knocked off the world champs for the second day in a row today, 8-4, with a five-run burst in the first inning.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THERE WAS A PERIOD late in Al Jolson's life when he was considered poison at the box office. His great comeback was made in the Columbia picture, The Jolson Story. A few days after the deal had been set, Jolson collapsed, and doctors could give no assurance he'd ever sing again. A top executive of the film company reluctantly went to the hospital to tell Al that, under the "act of God" clause, the deal was off. Al was sitting up when the lawyer arrived. He jumped up, did a dance routine, and sang April Showers from start to finish at the top of his form. Reassured, the executive said not a word about the contract. As soon as he left, Jolson fainted. He'd been preparing that very scene for a full week; he risked his life to bring it off. The gamble worked. "The Jolson Story" was one of the biggest grossers in film history.

DECISION RULED FOR UNION IN JACOBS DISPUTE

Arbitrator Says Employees May Select Dates For Vacations

Jacobs Local 3802, United Steel Workers (CIO), yesterday was declared the victor in the union-firm battle over vacation schedules.

Employees will be permitted to select their vacation dates.

The company sponsored a simultaneous vacation program, during which time the entire plant would shut down.

It was reported yesterday Arbitrator Joseph Brandtschian, Philadelphia, has ruled against the company.

The firm has posted notice that pay envelopes this week will include selection slips on which employees will mark their vacation choices.

BRANDTSCHIAN ruled the company does not have the right to a plant-wide shutdown for vacation purposes without consent of the union. He said the union has not given consent.

He further ruled vacations would have to be given on a seniority basis.

The arbitrator, who was called into the dispute this past June 3 when the membership voted 111 to 14 to take the question to arbitration, specifically referred to the contract to support his rulings.

The vacation question at the Queen and Madison streets plant had been pending since this past May 5, when company and union representatives held their first conference.

On May 17 the union met and rejected the idea of a plant-wide shutdown and voted to re-negotiate.

Then at the special meeting on June 3 the membership overwhelmingly voted to take the question to arbitration.

The 111 to 14 vote in favor of arbitration was by secret ballot.

The decision has been interpreted as a complete victory for the union and its current administration.

Second Tick Attack By Plane Spraying Slated for Saturday

A second 1953 aerial tick attack will be made on Green Acres ticks and mosquitoes Saturday morning.

A plane will dip down over the 50-acre section of Lower Pottsgrove township at approximately 7 o'clock and will bombard it for an hour.

A 5 percent solution of DDT and water emulsion will be employed. The water emulsion is used to insure protection of vegetation.

Residents of the area have been advised to keep their windows closed during the spraying. Although the solution is not harmful to clothing, Norman Arndt, chairman, said clothes will require washing if they are subjected to the spray.

Ninety-eight percent of the residents who live in Green Acres, which includes North Keim street and Hilltop road north of Mervine street, have contributed to the aerial program designed principally as a weapon against ticks.

Mosquitoes and flies also will be targets of the spray.

In the event of rain the plane will arrive on Sunday.

The first aerial blast to the area was made this past month. The third and final spraying will be conducted in mid-July.

Approximately 100 homes are located in the area which stretches north of the borough line for one mile.

SCHOOL GROUP

prepared by George B. Swinehart, supervising principal of Boyertown schools who will hold the same position in the joint school.

SWINEHART PLACED the amount of the new budget, which is for the 1953-1954 term, at $278,875, which he said was about $3.00 higher than the budget for the Boyertown school alone.

The new joint school will have about 1200 pupils, the principal estimated.

Each of the 12 districts will be asked to enumerate the number of pupils in each grade to provide a basis for estimating the future high school population, the committee decided last night.

At next Wednesday's meeting the authority will be organized in the form of a corporation, after which it will talk with Elmer H. Adams, new school architect from near Reading, on specifications for the new building.

CAMBODIA ASKS INDEPENDENCE

King Demands France Give Country Freedom Or Else

SAIGON, Indochina, June 24 (AP)—Cambodia's canny King Norodom Sihanouk stirred up a new crisis today with a sudden demand for complete independence for his little country and a threat of war against France if he fails to get it.

The latest of the king's bouncing moves in the past 11 days, which have taken the 31-year-old monarch to Thailand and back again, outlined a pattern calculated to give the troubled French a headache almost as sizeable as that of the United States in Korea where President Syngman Rhee has threatened to bolt the UN command.

Observers in Saigon called the new impasse Indochina's gravest political crisis. Both French and foreign onlookers here said the king's defiant ultimatum was taking the maximum advantage of France's seven-year war against the Communist-led Vietminh.

If tension increases, it is possible that an oddly assorted but powerful bloc might be formed by the Vietminh, the Issarak, the Buddhists and nationalist intellectuals—all opposing France. The king could become a facade for Communist power, observers fear.

THE KING'S latest move came in a proclamation to his people. "We will not consider ourselves members of the French Union unless France recognizes the independence of Cambodia," he announced. "At least in the same measure as that of Pakistan in relation to Great Britain."

The proclamation went on to say that if Cambodia did not get satisfaction in a peaceful way she would resort to "other means," and, for good measure, added:

"For that she is ready to sacrifice even her existence."

The proclamation came from Battambang, 150 miles northwest of the capital, Phnom Penh, which the king suddenly left on June 13. He went to Bangkok, Thailand, announcing he would not come home until his demands were met. One week later he re-entered Cambodia, apparently disappointed at lack of support in Thailand, but took up residence at Battambang.

THE GIRL, who narrowly escaped death when she leaped from the car, suffered severe shock.

She was found dazed and bleeding by a Havertown, Delaware county woman, who drove her to the hospital. She couldn't remember her name when they admitted her.

Davidheiser, who has built 100 homes in the section where the lots are located, has promised to build homes on them if the borough does not accept the offer this Summer.

AS FAR AS borough officials are concerned, though, they have received no official word of the offer.

This was underlined by C. Edmund Wells, borough solicitor.

"We haven't received any official communication on it," he said. "We have to have a tangible proposal."

"We must have definite description and specifications of the land with an estimate of the upkeep."

The steps the borough would take in considering the offer were sketched by the borough solicitor.

He said a recommendation from the Recreation commission would be sought to see whether the commission thought it could use the land.

This recommendation then would be studied by council who would act on it. Pointing to the need for close study of the offer, Wells said, "if it is something that is more of an expense that it is a benefit, we shouldn't accept it."

Davidheiser's offer was put forth recently to Benjamin C. Steele, health officer.

Steele said he had received several complaints of weeds of the lots and had contacted the contractor, who re-stated verbally the offer he had made Sears.

Tractor Grabs Dress Of Woman Operator, Pulls Leg Into Claws

It doesn't pay to wear a dress when you operate a garden tractor. That's the new philosophy of a Limerick township woman caught in the claws of a tractor yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Teese, Graterford road (near Limerick center), was reported in "good" condition at Memorial hospital last night after the wound on her gashed left leg was closed.

The Limerick woman left her kitchen to operate the small tractor when her son, Stephen, 11, had trouble with it in the truckpatch.

MRS. TEESE got too close to one of the dozen claws which rotate and tear up the earth.

The claw caught her dress and pulled her left leg into the machine.

She stood in pain, unable to free herself, while Stephen and her daughter, Elizabeth, 8, alerted a neighbor, Robert Moses.

Moses came running to the scene and immediately saw he could not free the injured woman without removing one of the claws. He raced back to his home and returned with a hack saw.

Mrs. Teese limped free when the claw was sawed off.

The severe gash was sutured by Dr. Ivan W. Hess, Limerick.

Car Crash Injures Royersford Man

A 54-year-old man was injured last night when his car crashed into a second vehicle on Route 422 in front of the former Washington school in Limerick.

Leonard Tait, Royersford RD 1, was treated at Memorial hospital for a deep laceration of the forehead, cut of the chin, and bruised burns of the left knee.

Operator of the second car was Skip Propes, 848 North Franklin street.

Propes said he was traveling east on route 422 when he slowed down and started to make a left turn into the school yard.

As he did, the Tait vehicle struck his car in the right front. The fronts of both vehicles were badly smashed.

Propes was not injured. State police of Jeffersonville barracks investigated.

Water Job Is Pushed

in various parts of the Evans street and North End areas.

The borough already has completed laying a section of pipe along Wilson street.

But the pumps at the Evans street pumping station have to be enlarged.

Gulden said yesterday, however, that he's having difficulty getting delivery on several vitally needed pieces of equipment—including various sized valves and pumps.

The situation at the North End won't be completely solved this year, though, even after this project is finished.

This project is only a partial solution. The water condition will be completely improved once a reservoir tank is constructed in the North End some place.

That project, which will cost more than $80,000, won't be done until next year.

They are valued at $6000 by the owner, who says they cover over 30,000 square feet of area.

Davidheiser, who has built 100 homes in the section where the lots are located, has promised to build homes on them if the borough does not accept the offer this Summer.

AS FAR AS borough officials are concerned, though, they have received no official word of the offer.

This was underlined by C. Edmund Wells, borough solicitor.

"We haven't received any official communication on it," he said. "We have to have a tangible proposal."

"We must have definite description and specifications of the land with an estimate of the upkeep."

The steps the borough would take in considering the offer were sketched by the borough solicitor.

He said a recommendation from the Recreation commission would be sought to see whether the commission thought it could use the land.

This recommendation then would be studied by council who would act on it. Pointing to the need for close study of the offer, Wells said, "if it is something that is more of an expense that it is a benefit, we shouldn't accept it."

Davidheiser's offer was put forth recently to Benjamin C. Steele, health officer.

Steele said he had received several complaints of weeds of the lots and had contacted the contractor, who re-stated verbally the offer he had made Sears.

J. Wesley Ingles, Scottish-born preacher, teacher and author, will be guest minister Sunday at the morning and evening services in First Baptist church, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. Laurence T. Beers, pastor.

Ingles, who is on the staff of Eastern Baptist college, St. David's, has published four novels as well as short stories, poems and literary articles.

He was educated at Wheaton college, Princeton seminary and Princeton university; has taught at Stony Brook school in New York and at Bates college in Maine, and has served pastorates in New Jersey and New York.

His topic at the morning service will be "Free Indeed," while his evening subject will be "The Work of Redeeming Love."

Although the evening service is not a union one, the Rev. Beers announced, the pastors of First Methodist and Searles Memorial Methodist churches are inviting their members who cannot attend the World convocation of Evangelism in Philadelphia on Sunday to hear Ingles' evening message.

BIBLE SCHOOL SETS EXERCISES

Final Program to Include 'Christmas' Program By Kindergarten

It will seem almost like Christmas in July when final exercises of the Trinity Reformed church vacation school get under way tonight at 7 o'clock in the main Sunday school room.

Parents and friends of the pupils will see a "Christmas tree party of Christian giving" by kindergarten and nursery departments, a puppet show by the primary department; and a song and pantomime on Christian teachings by the junior department.

More than 100 children are expected to take part in these presentations.

An exhibit of books and pamphlets used in Christian education will be on display in connection with the exercises.

THE SCHOOL will close tomorrow with a picnic at Sunnyside park after the final session at 9 a.m.

The group will leave the church for the park at 11 a. m., with each bringing his own picnic lunch. Dessert will be supplied.

Children will be free to leave the picnic group at 1:15 p. m., Dale Heckman, school director, announced.

A good book is the best of friends,
the same today and for ever.
—Martin Farquhar Tupper.

Arrest Traffic Congestion

THE road from anywhere back to Pottstown Sunday nights is getting longer and longer—not in actual mileage but in time consumed to get from there to here. And Aunt Tillie doesn't understand why you have to pack up the kids an hour earlier than you used to to travel the same distance and get back at the same hour.

But the answer is that there are many, many more automobiles on the road than the modern highways can accommodate. The four-lane highway to Reading was deemed adequate for a hundred years. But it is already becoming obsolete.

This is especially noticeable in Pottstown where cars back up for blocks. The town has become one big bottleneck and one big pain in the neck to autoists hurrying home at peak hours.

Already plans are well advanced to bypass Route 100 traffic around the business district, and the actual construction of such a road is assured for the not too distant future.

But nothing definite has been done on Pottstown's most heavily trafficked highway artery, U.S. 422, which travels up and down High street. A number of suggestions have been made. Beech street was suggested as a by-pass. So was the roadbed of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Congestion on U.S. 422 is going to get immeasurably worse. There is no dispute to that. Yet nothing constructive has been accomplished. Like Topsy it will grow and grow and finally rear its head in ugly form and present the community with a real problem.

The time has come for action now. A definite plan should be agreed upon and then swung into high gear. Let us not be caught with future traffic headaches when they can be eliminated with a little thought now.

A Signal Event

THE Doehler-Jarvis Quarter Century Club tonight will pay tribute to 15 plant workers who have given at least 25 years' service to their employer. Two of these have attained the enviable record of 40 years' service to the company.

The records speak well not only for the faithfulness and devotion of the employees to be honored but also for the employee relations of the company.

Congratulations and best wishes are in order all around.

Entrance Signs

POTTSTOWN'S inter-service club council has advanced plans to establish five borough greeters on the five highways leading into the borough.

Warm welcomes of this sort are always appreciated by visiting motorists who in this manner are apt to remember Pottstown as a friendly community.

But care and artistic judgment should be given to the welcome signs. They will be the visitors' first impression of Pottstown. For that reason the impression will be lasting.

A good first impression is mighty important.

Good Police Work

A nice bit of police work was produced the other day by the Pottstown police department when a sergeant and two patrolmen combined ingenuity and alertness and tracked down a hit-run truck driver.

No lives were involved in the hit-run and a railroad safety gate was the only casualty of the affray. Still it was an important accomplishment in that it showed what can be done in an emergency.

The cycle started at Collegeville grade crossing where a truck grazed a descending automatic safety gate and continued on its way.

Desk Sergeant Russell Hummell recalled seeing a truck of the description given in Pottstown. He directed Patrolman William Mars to look for it. It was not found.

Then a tipster informed the police that the truck was at High and York streets. Mars and Motor Patrolman Paul I. Gallo-way spotted the truck there and discovered paint scratches on the truck's body.

The swivel-chair direction of the desk sergeant to, and the actions of, the two patrolmen who followed instructions were a credit to the police department. It was a job well done and augurs well for Pottstown when sleuthing for a big crime becomes necessary.

PUNKIN CORNERS
June 24.
Editor, The Mercury
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see whar a farmer plowed up 11 bucks in a cornfield. I guess that's about the best payin' crop he ever got out of that field. I've often heard of buck-wheat but this is the first time I ever heard of buck-corn. 'N' come to think of it, it did happen near Bucktown too!

I see they're still huntin' b'ar over in Bally valley. The only tracks they'll find over there are the railroad tracks to Barto. 'N' they won't be thar too long either. 'N' I see whar the burglar bell went off in one of them new branch banks. I'm glad they found out it worked all right. Now they know there's another bell workin' at the bank besides Henry Bell.

Sees Good Sign in Action on Sewers

Lauds Sewer Action

To the Editor: I hope the plans to correct the bottlenecks in the borough sewer system will prove successful.

Pottstown is like a kid who is growing out of his shoes, his pants, his shirt, his underwear and just about everything else. Only trouble is, the kid's parents (our borough officials) don't want to buy new clothes.

They think a boy can wear the same pair of shoes and the same underwear forever. And it isn't so.

I'm happy to see the sewer authority has given the okay on the engineering plans and specifications for the installation of relief sewer lines.

I hope the survey made and the action which will follow will correct the situation. I also hope the corrective steps being taken to aid the limping water system will be successful.

Now if only borough council and some of our other alleged civic-minded souls of this town get on the ball in other endeavors, Pottstown might keep up with the times.

We've made a tiny start on streets, but we're a long way off there. We need improved recreation facilities. We could use a large indoor auditorium.

We should be a third-class city with a smaller, less-clumsy legislative group. But what's the use of talking. We're lucky we're getting as much as we have.

WASHINGTON

Tour Reception Reveals Ike Retains Popularity

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 24—"They still like Ike because they trust him!"

Although this comment on popular sentiment toward President Eisenhower after almost six months in office was voiced by a friendly observer, it seems to reflect the opinion of the country. The estimate is based on his public reception during his recent five-state tour, newspaper polls, Congressional mail and similar sources.

Although Eisenhower does not possess FDR's flair for oratorical genius, or match Harry S. Truman in political pugnaciousness and swashbuckling, he has impressed people as a distinct personality. He gives the impression of honesty and sincerity. The folks appear to believe that he is doing the best he can for their best interests.

They appreciate his lack of rabid partisanship, which contrasts sharply with his predecessors' devotion to the Flynns, Hagues, and Pendergasts. They welcome his refusal to extend favors to any special class, as FDR and Truman did to such groups as labor, liberals and racial minorities.

The Democrats' attempt to depict the Administration as an annex of Wall Street has failed dismally. Proof lies in their quick abandonment of this strategy.

WELCOME RELIEF: After the periodical crises, quarrels and bickering of the past 20 years, within and without the Roosevelt-Truman circles, the comparatively calm atmosphere at Washington provides a welcome relief. Eisenhower refuses to fight with anybody, at least not openly, and he insists on maintaining friendly and co-operative relationships with Congress.

As they did when he made the remark during the campaign, the people warm toward his "I don't hate anybody" spirit.

It is true that favorable economic conditions underlie this reaction, which might change under adverse developments. Wages and employment are at an all-time high. Prices are still falling slightly.

POLITICIANS STOP GRUMBLING: A few weeks ago, as reported here at the time, the professional politicians were criticizing Ike sharply, albeit mutteringly. They were asking when he was "going to become President," and when he was going to "wipe out the New Deal." They were insisting that he get tough with Senators Taft and McCarthy.

The grumbling has disappeared as Ike began to assert himself, and to exert quiet but effective pressure on behalf of his domestic program. But these fears and doubts were entertained chiefly by the professional pols on and off Capitol Hill, not by the people at large.

The nation-wide reaction toward an Administration cannot be measured by listening to Congressional critics, or to their letter-writing constituents. The attitude of these personally involved and interested elements usually differs from that of the American people generally.

Relatively few thought it necessary for the President to break openly or privately with Senators Taft or McCarthy, who have millions of admirers. Eisenhower knows that he would lose a great deal of influence and popularity inside and outside Congress in such a clash.

No popular indignation of any depth or extent has been aroused by issues which have precipitated so much hostile oratory in House and Senate—higher Federal interest rates, defense economies, the slowness of tax-cutting and budget-balancing.

whole park should be taken over by the borough.

I am sure the men on the park association have put in a lot of hard work on the job and have done their best to get money for it, but so far, it seems to me, progress has been very slow.

I do not think the town should wait for that far-off day when the mortgage is paid off and so forth, before the borough takes it over. We don't need a good, complete public park some day; we need it now.

Pottstown J. O. T.

Ready to Rejoin

To the Editor: Harry S. Truman says the Democratic party is healthy and stronger than ever. Is that why he's campaigning years ahead of time? I may even go back in it again if and when they clean out the Communists—but good.

Pottstown EX-DEMOCRAT

Thoughts on Rhee

To the Editor: Syngman Rhee has placed himself squarely in the way of an end to the killing of our American soldiers. America has carried the load of this war from the very start. And we have endured all this just to keep this insufferable little pip-squeak from getting killed or kicked out of Korea—a country which he had not seen for 40 years until he decided that this was the time to do a little "carpet-bagging."

In Gen. MacArthur's thinking we can find a solution to our present problem. He points out that there are, on Formosa, "600,000 friendly Chinese." He further says we "were not permitted to use" this powerful army.

The Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Choo Choo Train of Thought

DOES ANYBODY remember what we did before air-conditioning? Hard hit by the heat wave are the mid-town shooting galleries. The last couple I passed were almost deserted. Apparently no one wants to get warmed up over a shootin' iron in this humidity.

The most divine spot in town at around 11:17 these Summer Sunday evenings is Billy Reed's candy-striped Little Club. Sitting at a banquet table is like curling up on the bottom shelf of your refrigerator.

Perry Como Perry Como sings "No Other Love" better than anybody. But it's so pretty not even the most pedestrian of the crooners (and you know who that is!) can ruin it. I make a small bet that Mel Allen's attempt to pin the tag "Yankee Doodle Dandy" on Mickey Mantle will just lie there like an Aubusson.

It doesn't sound like a ballplayer, in the first place, it sounds like the title of a movie playing on 42d street; and in the second place Mickey is enough of a nickname for Mickey.

ISN'T IT a big wide wonderful world? Zithers are available again

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

TOM O., is the likeable husband who has become a chronic drunkard. I quoted his wife yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, I'm just no good," Tom mournfully exclaimed, as soon as he entered my office.

"I have a wonderful wife and I don't deserve her. For I am a slave of the liquor habit."

"Is there any hope for me? If not, I better give my wife a divorce so she can attain some happiness in life."

Tom is not a slave to whisky. No, the liquor habit is only a secondary symptom of a more deep seated problem.

DRUNKENNESS is much like a headache. And headaches are not a disease in themselves, but a symptom, as of astigmatism or sinus trouble.

Tom's real ailment is a long time habit of running away from problems. Alcohol is simply his particular route of escape.

We physicians could easily stop his fondness for whisky by doping up his liquor so he'd vomit.

But that wouldn't cure his real ailment, namely, the habit of fleeing from problems!

So he might thereafter become a dope addict or even attempt suicide, or select any one of several other avenues of flight.

The best solution of the liquor habit is to delve deeper till you find the basic cause.

In psychology, we compare alcoholism to the fire escape on a burning building. Put out the fire and there is no longer need for use of the fire escape.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS is a worthy organization of former chronic drunkards who used to flee from their problems via whisky.

A.A. compares very favorably with shock treatment of insanity. Both are not permanent cures but only "re-pressives." The real cures for both conditions consist of digging deeper to the basic causes and remedying them.

The A.A. organization has three essential bits of strategy for helping rehabilitate the former drunkard.

First, it sets short goals. The alcoholic is asked to stay sober "just for today." The goal is thus only 24 hours at a time. That enables the drunkard to finish his short-term task successfully. Thus, he can chalk up seven victories in a single week.

Well, let's use them! Certainly the objections of Syngman Rhee should not stop us. He does not want them brought into Korea. So let us brush Mr. Syngman Rhee aside and out of our way; let us bring in these 600,000 Chinese Nationalists under our friend, Chiang Kai-shek, and turn them loose against the Communists.

Pottstown L. S.G.

The Farmer's Case

To the Editor: I have just completed reading about the farmer. It hardly seems possible that anyone, even a city dweller, could be so grossly misinformed about us farmers.

I am mystified about the "taken income tax payments" he mentions. We have to pay income taxes on everything we earn, just as you do. However, most of what we earn, and on which we pay taxes, must promptly go into farm equipment so that we can keep operating. It is exactly as though you had to buy the machines in the factory in which you work out of your own income.

I am also mystified about the "20 percent plus" out of his pay that goes to us. This is obviously a figment of his imagination as we farmers get no such fantastic gratuity from anyone, certainly not from the government.

The farmer receives, on the average, only 30 percent of the price you pay. Out of that 30 percent he has to make a living besides buying his farm and paying for the fantastically expensive farm equipment he must use to keep operating. In the end, the farmer actually receives for himself perhaps 5 to 10 percent of the price you pay.

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, June 24 — Well, it's finally decided — and Terry Moore will be Ty Power's "Queen" in "King of the Khyber Rifles." Film rolls next month . . . If that engagement (?) ring Debra Paget's wearing wasn't given her by a certain Mr. Big, we have a hunch the "10 carat sparkler" is a studio donation. And that it's "paste, not precious!" Romantic publicity might do much to offset the dull press Debra's had up to now. All that notable stuff; and being tied to her Ma's apron strings, etc. . . . Cole Porter is dying laffing at legal communique from his "dream landlord." Pertaining to a hassle over the house he rents here . . . Columbia studios took a fast look at "Scalpel" and picked up newcomer, Dianne Foster's option for a contract. (An option is the only thing about Dianne that needs lifting!) Film co-stars Charlton Heston and Elizabeth Scott.

BEVERLY HILLS snoopers have been busy at the spot where Steve Crane opens "The Luau" next month. He's putting a quarter of a million into the new restaurant. Sum includes fantastic trimmings of shells, trees, statues and plants shipped from various Pacific islands. With her Broadway show, "Time of the Cuckoo" closing, Shirley Booth is due back in Hollywood pronto to start "About Mrs. Leslie" for Hal Wallis. Yarn concerns a boarding house for movie actors—and that should be fun. Wallis, who has la Booth tied up for yet another film, may star her in a musical version of "Lady for a Day," the old May Robson tear-jerker. . . . Richard Egan looked and acted like a dreamboat on Ford Theater's "Malaya Incident." . . . Ditto for Frances Dee (with Dick Powell) on a Playhouse of Stars stanza.

VIDEO THEATER'S "Make Believe Bride" was make believe for sub morons only! Even they could have guessed its outcome before the halfway point! Poor Don de Fore! He had to play it straight! As soon as their domestic dither is out of the way, Gene Nelson's wife, Miriam resumes her career. She was doing better than he at the time they tied the knot. . . . "Lili" the unexpected smash it is, Mel Ferrer and Leslie Caron will soon be re-teamed in "Elegance." A musical drama of a dancing couple circa 1925. . . . Sorry we couldn't accept Hyatt Dehn's bid to that dinner party he gave at Ocean House, being too bushed to get to the beach!

VALLEY FORGE CONCERTS SET

Summer Series in Chapel
Scheduled to Start
Wednesday

The 1953 series of Summer concerts in the Washington Memorial chapel, Valley Forge, will be distinguished equally with organ and carillon recitals, through July and August. Since its dedication under the fingers of the late Rollo F. Maitland, the new Moller organ has revealed its sonorities under the magic touch of many noted musicians.

For the opening recital on Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock, the guest organist will be W. Frederick Searle, who now presides over the $75,000 organ inherited by the United States Merchant Marine academy at Kings Point, N. Y., on the Walter Chrysler estate.

Chapel soprano, Estelle Harrop Creemers, also will contribute a group of solos. Searle's program will range from Bach to his improvisation on Valley Forge 1777-78 and 1933.

The succeeding July Wednesday evenings will present Newell Robinson, organist and Anne Simon, contralto, July 8; two Chamber Music concerts, under Jeno Donath's direction, July 15 and 22, with Robert Elmore, organist, at the latter, and a violin recital by Frederic Balazs on July 29.

WITH THE COMPLETION of the Bell Tower, the carillon of 56 bells will ring out over the historic hills at the opening Bell recital, Aug. 5 at 8:30, by Arthur Bigelow, carillonneur and Princeton bell master, who has had charge of their installation.

Visiting carillonneurs, through the remaining August Wednesday evenings, will be announced by Frank Law, chapel carillonneur.

The public is invited to attend the Wednesday evening series of Summer concerts. Marion G. Spangler is chairman of the program committee.

Church Will Hear College Quartet

Services at the Pughtown Baptist church this evening will be in charge of the Houghton college mixed quartet. The Rev. Harland A. Hill, pastor, announced the services will begin at 8 o'clock.

They are Joanne Bingham, of New Brighton, a soprano, and Ronald D. Miller, Allentown, president of the college's cappella choir the past year and a minister in the Evangelical Congregational church.

Jury Rules Out Neglect In Death of Prisoner

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—A coroner's jury ruled today James J. Kane, Democratic committee man in Washington, died in the city jail March 19 of natural causes.

The jury also decided there was no criminal negligence in Kane's death which had aroused local residents and led to the demolition of a police sergeant.

Kane, 59, a former deputy warden of the Washington county jail, died four hours after he was picked up on the street and charged with intoxication. Local residents complained Kane was not given proper medical attention while in jail and Mayor Elmer R. Wilson named a citizen investigating committee.

Inquest Date Is Set in Prison Death

By Staff Correspondent NORRISTOWN, June 24—An inquest into the death of Lester H. Clemmer, 29, of Sumnerstown, will be held in the courthouse Tuesday, June 23, at 10 a. m., Coroner W. J. Rushong announced today.

Clemmer was found dead in his cell at the county prison on the early morning of June 15. It was at first believed Clemmer died from a heart attack, but a subsequent autopsy proved that death was caused by a fracture at the base of the skull.

In an effort to obtain a clear picture of events preceding the man's commitment to jail, Coroner Rushong has called a total of 17 witnesses to testify.

CLEMMER'S AUTOMOBILE and one operated by Harry Harpel, 48, of Salford, were involved in a collision on Shelly road, near Vernonia, on the night before providing for an exchange of goods worth 34 million dollars.

State Troopers Charles Hicklin and Thomas Cuff, of the Norristown sub-station, had Clemmer examined for sobriety by Dr. H. G. Carter, of Pennsburg, and then took the man home since they were not sure he had been driving.

Learning later that Clemmer was behind the wheel of his machine when it crashed, the troopers obtained permission from Dr. Carter to take him to jail. He was committed at 12:45 a. m.

At 6:45 a. m., Guard Francis Nallon found Clemmer dead in his cell.

Following the autopsy, a further investigation into the case was made by County Detective William Bradley.

Gill-High Nuptial Service Performed

First Baptist church, Norris-town, was the setting for the marriage of Lillian Ada Gill and Joseph Scholl High. The Rev. W. Everett Griffiths performed the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin B. Gill, Locust Spring Farm, Collegeville, are the parents of the bride. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Reuben High, Schwenksville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chantilly lace gown with a form fitting lace bodice.

It featured a lace appliqued yoke, stand-up collar, and long, tapered sleeves.

A pleated net inset showed through the scalloped lace redingote, which flowed into an expansive cathedral train. She wore a lace bonnet head-dress adorned with pearls and scattered iridescent sequins, from which fell a silk fingertip length French illusion veil with a scalloped edge.

In her hands, she carried an ivory prayer book and a white orchid with streamers of ivory and baby breath.

Mrs. Warren W. Metz, Collegeville, sister of the bride, who attended her as matron of honor, wore a ballerina length dress of orchid colored silk shantung made with matching jacket.

Her headpiece was nylon net held in place by an orchid colored bandeau trimmed with applied sequins. She carried a cascade of lilies and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. George

E. Rimby, Mrs. Mary Gill and Nancy Brownlee. Their gowns were styled as the maid of honors, in pink-orchid, aqua and seafoam green, respectively.

They also carried lilies and ivy. Denise Rimby, niece of the bride and Barbara High, niece of the groom, served as flower girls.

They wore pink imported embroidered organza dresses with matching bonnets.

They carried baskets filled with sweetheart roses and lavender larkspur.

Reuben High Jr. served as best man for his brother.

Ushers were Harry R. Gill, John High and Warren Metz.

Worn by the bride's mother was an ivory colored lace dress over aqua colored satin with matching hat. She wore an orchid corsage.

Rose colored lace was chosen by the mother of the groom. The dress had a matching jacket. She wore navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

For the trip to New York, the bride wore a corn colored light weight suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

Upon their return the couple will be at home in Locust Spring farm.

Wave Weds Sailor at Nuptial Mass in St. Aloysius Catholic Church

Nuptial mass Saturday celebrated the marriage of Lucille Foley and Thomas J. Schiel, both of Pottstown, who were united in a double ring ceremony.

Both bride and groom are serving in the Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Foley Sr., 835 South Street, are the parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Schiel, Pottstown RD 3.

Two bouquets of white carnations mingled with baby breath.

Tiny puffed sleeves accented the white gold cross, a gift of the groom, completed the bride's costume.

She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white orchids, split carnations and baby breath tied with streamers of white satin.

Maid of honor was Lillian Hoffman, a sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Green tulle formed her gown, fashioned with a gathered bodice and a tulle bolero. Its sash was of gathered satin.

Her headdress, in green, was a replica of the bride's and she wore a golden cross, a gift of the bride and groom.

Yellow roses, white asters, pink carnations, daisies and baby breath formed her old-fashioned bouquet, tied with a shower of ribbon.

Bridesmaid was Shirley Schiel, a sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

She wore a gown like the honor maid's, only in yellow, and carried a similar bouquet to which blue cornflowers were added.

Francis Schiel, a brother of the groom, was the best man.

Ushering was another of the groom's brothers, William Schiel.

Following the service, a reception was held in St. Peter's hall for more than 200 guests.

Receiving rooms were decorated in yellow, green and white streamers to match the bridal party's gowns.

Standing in the receiving line, the bride's mother was dressed in a gown of sky blue lace with white accessories.

Aqua blue was selected by the groom's mother for her frock and she too wore white accessories.

Both mothers wore corsages of pink carnations and baby breath.

To leave for the week's honeymoon at Wildwood, both bride and groom changed to the dress white uniforms of the Navy.

Lucille is a 1951 alumna of Pottstown High school and was graduated from radio school in Bainbridge, Md.

A Wave, she is stationed at Quonset Point, R. I.

Her husband has just returned from a five month cruise aboard the USS Newport News and is stationed in Norfolk, Va.

The newlyweds will return June 26, and on June 30 will leave for a second honeymoon through the New England States.

Guests attended the wedding from Philadelphia, Berwyn, Phoenixville, Stowe, South Hampton, Shamokin, Harrisburg and Reading.
